

Under construction

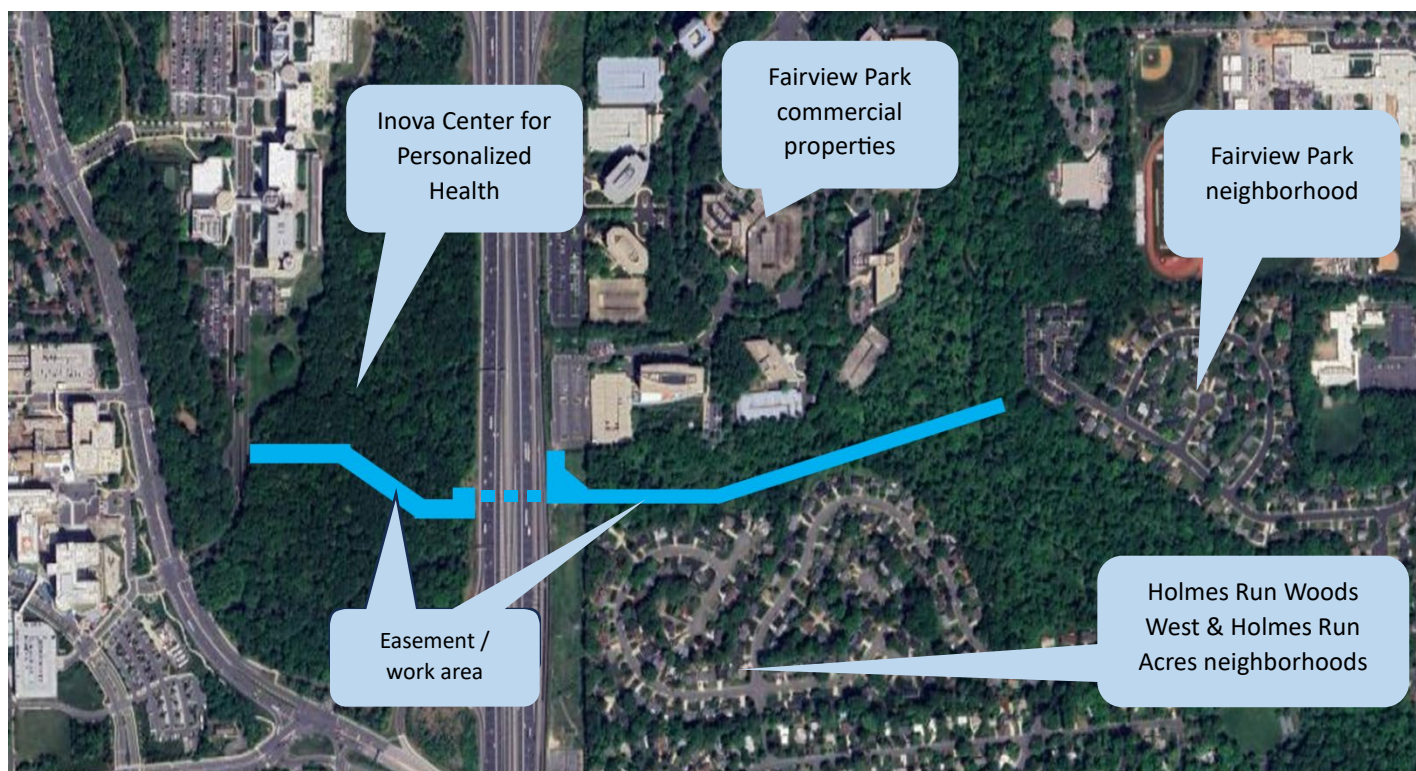

Notice of upcoming utility work near your community

Dear neighbors,

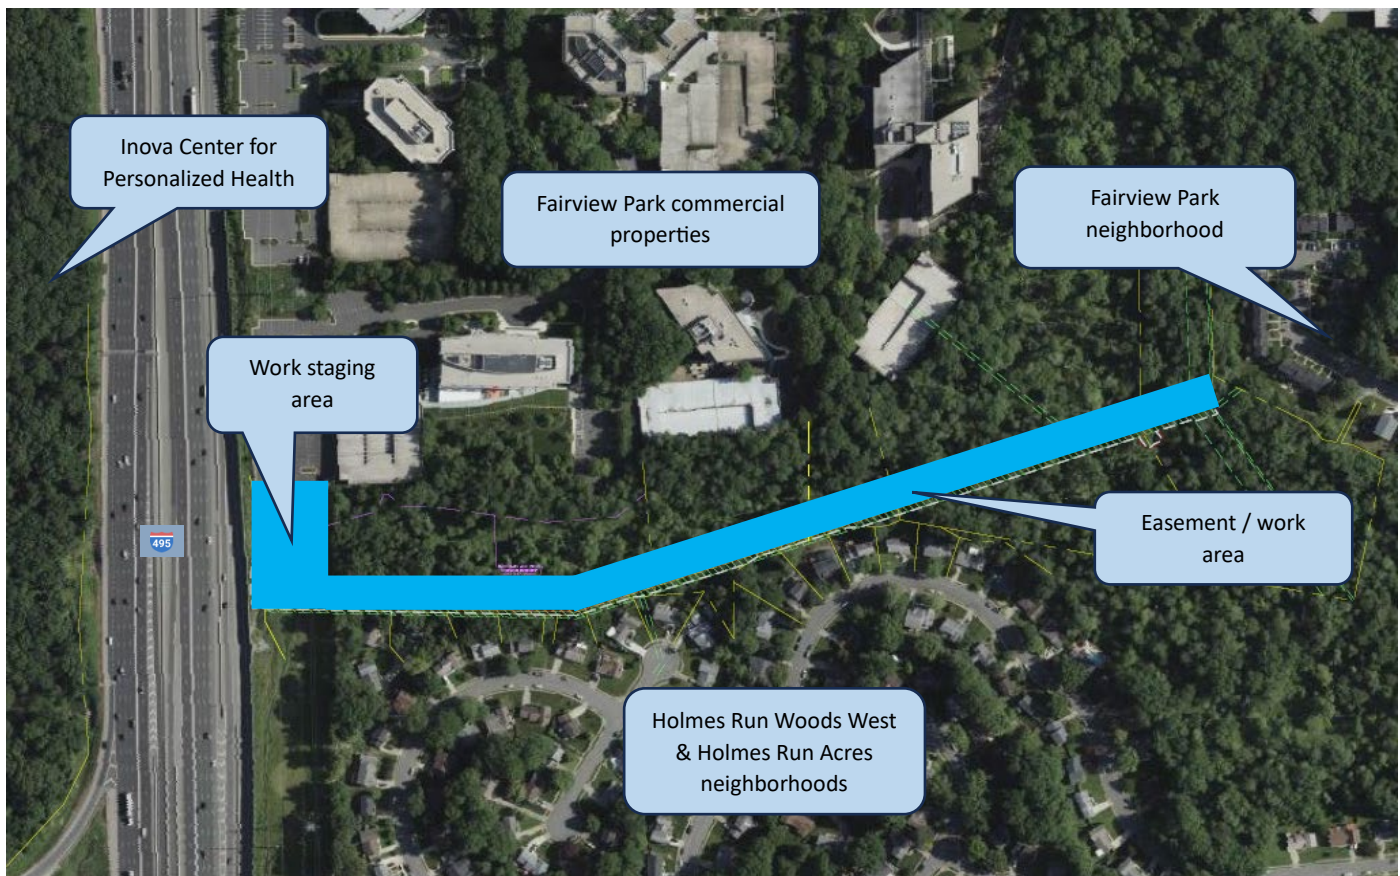

Inova Health is reaching out about a planned sewer line improvement project adjacent to your community. Construction is anticipated to begin in August. Inova invites you to attend one of two community information meetings at 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 2, and Wednesday, July 23, at the Inova Conference Center (8100 Innovation Park Drive).

The Inova Center for Personalized Health, directly across the Beltway from your community, is currently served by an at-capacity sewer line that runs through an existing easement (see below) located between the commercial properties in Fairview Park to the north and the residential neighborhoods to the south and east.

A larger sewer line is being installed to support continued improvements at the Inova campus, home to the Inova Schar Cancer center and other healthcare services. Inova has been working with affected property owners, Fairfax County, the Fairfax County Park Authority, and the Virginia Department of Transportation to secure the necessary easements and project approvals.

While the project will not directly impact your property or your sewer service, you and your neighbors will be in close proximity to the work area. All necessary environmental precautions and protections will be taken in accordance with Fairfax County standards. It will be necessary to remove selected trees in the easement to allow for construction. Upon completion, Inova will replant with new trees and vegetation per Fairfax County standards and the approved construction documents.

Learn more

Inova invites you and your neighbors to attend community information meetings at 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 2, and Wednesday, July 23, at the Inova Conference Center (8100 Innovation Park Drive).

Please contact Dominic Bonaiuto, Director for Government and Community Relations, at dominic.bonaiuto@inova.org, with any questions.